BIG LIFE CALLING

Intro: Bm

I made a little life among the ticky-tack shacks, down in capital city by the clicky-clack tracks,
People coming and going, never stopping or slowing, or showing that they're knowing what for.
Every day would slip away and I was saying okay, livin driven at the grindstone, just awaiting pay day.

Bm G Bm G Bm
But something inside that I knew wouldn't lie told me, listen, keep envisioning more.
Chorus:
          G
                 A Bm
There's a big life calling, calling like the sea.
          A Bm
A big life calling, so much more to set free.

Bigger than all that comes to stress, bigger than what grows to regress, Bm F#m G Bm A
Bigger than what's inside your door, so why are you sitting here on the floor (when-) {\sf G} {\sf A} {\sf Bm} {\sf G}
There's a big life calling, calling like the sea.
 D A Bm
A big life calling, so much more to set free.
So I packed up all my bags and I left the next month, had my eyes wide open, I was on the hunt.
Looking anywhere, everywhere, wherever I saw vision, there was something I was still searching for.
Mountains weren't tall enough and oceans weren't deep as the dreams I was after that were robbing my sleep Bm G Bm A Bm G Bm A
But something deep down that was still around said, listen, keep envisioning more.
(Chorus - last two lines only)
Outer space was too big, so I began looking in; there's an infinite world in the places you've been.
It was time to ask Why, then Why again, and keep asking what it means to be free.

Bm G Bm A
When you leave it all you have nothing left; that's the dark, lonely answer I would finally get.

Bm G A Bm G
                                                                                               G Bm A
And something so dim said, if I'm needing them, then maybe they also need me.
There's a big life calling, calling to just serve.
 D A Bm
A big life calling, so much more to just learn.
                              G
Bigger than what exists in me, wider than meadows and taller than trees, Bm F#m G Bm A/C#
Bigger than what's beyond the stars; together it's there to be all ours ---
Chorus in A:
 D E F#m
 ------ it's calling, calling like the sea.
