

TURNING POINT (KRISIS)

Danika Starrharrt

Intro: D | F#m | G | G |

D F#m G A D F#m G A
Lights are dim, breeze brushes slowly and it comes again: that feeling so lonely it
D Bm G Bm A
Could be the end, the end no one ever dreamed of.
D A D G Bm7 F#m7 GM7 | GM7 | Bm | F#m7 | GM7 | GM7
Senses reeling, lack of feeling --- why, why, why?

CHORUS:

D G6
This is your turning point. This is your turning point.
D/F# G Bm G A
This is the time at the end of the line to see what's been waiting to burst into rhyme.
D G6
This is your turning point. This is your turning point.
D/F# G Bm G A (4b)
This is the time when it starts to come clear, when things are so empty it's easy to hear.
D | F#m | G | A
This is your turning point.

D F#m G A D F#m G A
Cannot see, cannot approach all that you used to be. Cannot reach forward yet
D Bm G Bm A
Or so it seems. It seems nothing's there to lean on.
D A D G Bm7 F#m7 GM7 | GM7
But once you taste that freedom, you can fly, fly, fly.

(Chorus)

Bridge:

Em C/E Em B/D#
This is the time when all hell breaks loose, judgment unleashed with the power to choose.
Em C#7b5 Em/B B | B
This is the time that cuts like a knife, the time is now, once in a life.

Chorus in E:

E A6
This is your turning point. This is your turning point.
E/G# A C#m A B
This is the time at the end of the line to see what's been waiting to burst into rhyme.
E A6
This is your turning point. This is your turning point.
E/G# A C#m A B (4b)
This is the time when it starts to come clear, when things are so empty it's easy to hear.
E | G#m | A | A | E
This is your turning point.
